Correction

The below quotation, from 'Dissecting the Archipelago: PhD by Design Concepts in the Fields of Architecture and Urban Design' was incorrectly cited.

'the key characteristic of bricolage as a research approach is that it presents research findings/data in a way that potentially challenges its audience to see its subject matter in an unexpected, irregular or offbeat way. It does this by careful consideration of what should be presented or re-presented in a novel form.'

The correct citation for the above quotation is, Wibberley C. Bricolage research methods. In: Nursing and Health Care Research: At a glance. Wiley-Blackwell; 2017, pp. 106–107.
